Fraud and Corruption in Canal Contracts.

Proceedings of the Chief Fire Engineers' Convention.

NEW YORK, October 5, 1875.

The Canal Investigation.

The fifth report of the Canal Investigating Commission was made public to-day. It states that the financial result of George D. Lord's career as a legislator and contractor with the State, so far as has been investigated, gives an aggregate of over $185,000 fraudulently paid by or charged against the State for work covered by his repair contract of $44,400 a year. It implicates in these frauds several Canal Commissioners and inspectors, and some members of both branches of the State Legislature, and says in whatever direction the inquiry is pushed, fraud and corruption is encountered at every step.

The Chief Fire Engineers' Convention.

This was the second day of the session of Engineers of fire departments of the United States. A committee of three was appointed to examine into the question "Whether a system of self-supporting ladders could be depended upon to meet an emergency caused by the erection of lofty buildings." It was also resolved to give inventors and patentees of fire protective and extinguishing apparatus an opportunity of exhibiting their articles to-morrow. Resolutions of regret were passed, expressing condolence with the friends of the deceased firemen who lost their lives by the late aerial ladder accident.

Verbal reports were made by Chiefs Johnston, of Philadelphia, Bates, of New York, Benner, of Chicago, and Hendricks, of New Haven, as to how far the instructions of the last convention had been carried out in suggested improvements in hose coupling.

Mr. Walter W. Adams, Superintendent of Buildings, having been invited to adress the convention, explained the building laws of this city and the rules governing his department.

An invitation was accepted from the Autographic Signal Telegraph Company to visit their offices and examine their system of workings for fire protection. The convention then adjourned till to-morrow, and the delegates went in a body as the guests of the fire department of this city on board the fire boat Havemeyer, to inspect her workings.

CANTON, O.

Grand Republican Mass Meeting and Procession — An Immense Turnout—Address by Hon. Carl Schurz.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

CANTON, O., October 5, 1875.

There was a grand Republican demonstration here to-day. It was universally conceded to be the largest and most enthusiastic demonstration of the campaign in this section of the State. There were fully thirty thousand people in town—coming from all quarters of the compass. The first feature of the day was the grand procession. There were over five hundred wagons in line, representing all the trades and business of the country—together with large delegations from the surrounding country. The procession was an immense affair.

After the parade a meeting was organized, when the Hon. Carl Schurz delivered a masterly address, reviewing the political situation in general and the financial issue in particular.

The town is illuminated this evening and presents a fine appearance.

The best of order has prevailed, and even the Democrats admit that the demonstration has been a great success. D. J.

BANK OF CALIFORNIA

Meeting of Stockholders—Election of Trustees — The Big Stock Boards Opened.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 5.—The stockholders of the Bank of California met to-day to hear the report of the directors and to elect new trustees. Thirty thousand shares of stock were represented out of 50,000. Of these, Sharon, as President of the Syndicate, voted 28,000, the balance being in the hands of individual holders. The following were elected trustees: D. O. Mills, Thomas Bell, Wm. Sharon, Geo. P. Howard, Wm. Alvord, Wm. Norris, John O. Earl, Jas. R. Keene, Robert F. Morrow, Nicholas Luning, and E. J. Baldwin. The trustees will organize to-morrow. It is understood Mills will be the President. A committee was appointed to revise the constitution and by-laws, to report on November 2d. A statement was made to the meeting of the present condition of the bank, together with some review of the causes leading to the suspension and matters connected therewith, but on these points the officers preserve profound reticence. An intimation is, however, vouchsafed that as regards the present condition of the bank, the latest reports that the assets with good management would pay depositors and leave from one to two million for stockholders were substantially correct. The stockholders are reported to be pleased with the exhibit of affairs, and are disposed to congratulate themselves on the successful management of affairs. A vote of thanks to the syndicate and trustees was passed, and the meeting adjourned.

Both the big stock boards opened this morning with seats full and a great crowd of enthusiastic spectators. Business opened lively. The transactions were large and prices well maintained, shading off a little on the street after the board closed.

Policemen's Mistake.

ST. LOUIS, October 5.—Mr. E. H. Hinson, said to be a wealthy cotton planter of Alexandria, La., was found near the Pacific railroad depot last evening, in a helpless condition, and taken to the calaboose under the supposition that he was intoxicated, and placed in a cell. About midnight some gentlemen called at the police station and inquired for him, and upon going to the cell to bring him out he he was found dead on the floor. Coroner Dudley examined the body to-day, and gave an opinion that death was caused by heart disease. It appears Mr. Hinson came up from the South to visit his daughter's residence, a few miles from the city. It appears he was very ill, instead of intoxicated, and being unable to get on the train at the depot, had lain down near by, and was insensible when taken up by the police.

The Buell-Chandler Libel Suit.

ST. LOUIS, October 5.—The question of sufficiency of the indictment against A. C. Buell for the alleged libel of Senator Chandler, of Michigan, came before the United States Circuit Court again to-day, and was argued by the counsel, after which Judge Treat delivered an opinion, in which he said the gravest question in the matter was that of jurisdiction. Either the Police Court of Washington City had or had not jurisdiction of the offense charged. If it had jurisdiction, then the Criminal Court has no right to take cognizance of it. If it had not, then the act of 1874, giving the Criminal Court jurisdiction over it, was retrospective as far as this case was concerned, and was consequently inoperative. The prisoner was ordered discharged.

The Horse Epizootic Spreading.

CINCINNATI, October 5.—The disease among horses, known as the epizootic, has, within the past few days, reappeared among the horses of this city. In all the street railroad stables horses are coughing, though none are down as yet. In many of the private stables the disease is manifesting itself in swelling of the glands in the neck of the animals. At the lowest calculation 2,000 horses are suffering from the disease.

Charles Brink, in a fit of anger, shot Mrs. Deborah Hall, his mother-in-law, and Ellen Brink, his wife, killing them instantly, and then killed himself by placing the pistol to his right temple. No good cause can be assigned for the deed.

THE CRUSADING COUNCILMEN.

Milwaukee Water Works, Streets, etc.—Homeward Bound.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

MILWAUKEE, October 4, 1875.

The Allegheny Councilmen and delegation arrived here last night by boat from Chicago, after a delightful run of twelve hours through Lake Michigan. This place is perhaps one of the most eligibly situated cities in the country, for drainage, harbor conveniences, and generally healthful situation. The streets are regular, wide, and straight, and generally well paved, although they have too much wood in their construction. The general impression exists that sooner or later, the Belgian square blocks of stone, or the old fashioned road of MacAdam, will finally be adopted, with preference for the former.

Water Works.

Perhaps no city in the land can boast of a more complete and beautiful water works than Milwaukee. Built upon a plan which was thoroughly prepared by the most noted and competent engineers, it supplies a city of one hundred thousand inhabitants by pumping only three days in the week, and the total cost of the completed work, stand pipe, engines, reservoir and all was but one hundred and sixty thousand dollars. This is, perhaps, commentary enough without adding one word by way of contrast. It stands out boldly, and fully determines one point without a shadow of doubt, and that is—when you want work done, particularly great engineering work, requiring vast and expensive machinery with extraordinary outlay, be sure and employ developed talent of the highest character, and adopt such materials and machinery as have been demonstrated a success. Drop experimenting and act upon the successful example of finished and perfect workmen and workmanship.

Back to Chicago.

Three hours by rail brought us back to Chicago, after spending a pleasant day in Milwaukee. Here the party divided up, some going to St. Louis, some stopping a few days longer to complete the tour of the great lake city, and the remainder starting for home, where they will arrive on the 5th, delighted beyond expression with their trip, and prepared to give practical force to the lessons learned from the Great West.

Chicago.

There is no disputing the fact that Chicago, in all the elements which go to make up a vast commercial, progressive, industrious city is a great place, greater, perhaps, than many of your readers have allowed themselves to think. It is said that its limits are twelve miles square, or one hundred and forty-four square miles of people, crowded together, and yet living in more peace and quiet, perhaps, than places not half or quarter so large. I think I saw but one beggar on the streets during a stay of four full days; and this surely is proof that the four hundred thousand of her population find ready employment, and have homes to go to. The hotels are exceptionally large and good, the Palmer House, Grand Pacific, Sherman and Tremont, perhaps, being unexcelled, if equalled, in all their modern appointments and conveniences by any place in the world, while they have other good, pleasant, home-like public houses, surely by the dozen. To gain any adequate idea of the size of the place, its wonderful energy in building up, within three years, the ravages of the terrible fire, over a space of perhaps thirty square miles, its shipping, and its block after block, square after square of substantial houses, built of stone and iron mainly, with some brick, one must go there, and like us, come away amazed, astounded, gratified. SINEY AND PARKS.

The Defendants in the Riot Case on Trial at Clearfield.

John Siney is a shrewd and clear-headed Irishman of middle age. His prominent cheek bones, strong jaws, and straight beard, give him a marked likeness to the traditional Brother Jonathan of the caricaturists. It is only when he speaks that Erin crops out. He is a person of calm demeanor, and has considerable command over himself and over the passions of such audiences as are usually his—just such a leader, in fact as one would expect to find at the head of fifty thousand men who deal with hard and grimy facts like anthracite and bituminous. Siney was formerly a practical miner in the Schuylkill region, but has given most of his time since 1869 to to the organization of unions. As President of the National Association, his influence is great in all matters that pertain to the interests of miners. He receives a salary of $1,200 for his services as President. Mr. Siney is opposed to strikes, except as a last resort, is a profound respecter of law and constituted authority, and believes that the road to labor reform lies through the ballot box.

Xingo Parks, or "Jingo," as he was facetiously styled in the court room by Mr. Matt Carpenter, his leading counsel, owes it to the singular taste of his parents in the matter of christening that he is better known by name throughout the country than his fellow defendant. He is possibly thirty, although his appearance discounts at least ten years, and makes a very youthful looking agitator of him. He is the opposite of Siney in that he, although of American birth, is the perfect image of an impulsive, hot-headed, but good-hearted little Irishman. Mr. Parks is a short man, with a smooth face and florid complexion. His enemies have probably long ago discovered that his hair is red and his vision oblique. Park's coolness of judgment is oftener questioned than either his energy or his ability. His mission is to extend the union system.

ALL the State officers and employes of Virginia, from the Governor down, have agreed to set apart one day's pay for the purpose of erecting an equestrian statue to General Lee at Richmond.

Trouble Between Whites and Negroes at Friar's Point.

Women and Children Sent Out of Town.

Both Sides Arming for a Conflict.

A Fight Momentarily Expected.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., September 5.—The following private telegram was received from Helena, Ark., this morning: The negroes threaten to burn Friar's Point, Miss., to-day. Several whites from there reached here at two o'clock this morning, for arms and assistance. A good many men have just left for there, and many more are ready to go if needed. Serious trouble is threatened.

A gentleman from Friar's Point gives the following statement in regard to the condition of affairs there: Brown, the colored Sheriff, who is a candidate for re-election, came to Memphis last week and purchased a considerable quantity of ammunition, which he took to Friar's Point and distributed among his friends. On Saturday night last the Democratic Conservative Convention was held there, and a ticket nominated in opposition to the one headed by Brown. Senator Alcorn, being present, was called upon for a speech, to which he responded, and in the course of which he criticised Brown's official career in a severe manner. Brown, who was present, became much excited, and demanded the privilege of replying, but Judge Rex, chairman, fearing bloodshed, adjourned the meeting. Brown then announced he would call a meeting on Monday night, and it is supposed the troubles apprehended grew out of the meeting last night.

Later.

A telegram was received late to-day from a prominent steamboatman at Helena to parties here, asking for arms and men to go this evening to Fryer's Point, but the Associated Press agent here telegraphed to a reliable party at Helena at noon, asking if any collision had occurred or any trouble apprehended, but failing to get a report, is of the opinion that the danger was magnified in the first instance.

Third Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, October 5.—A later private telegram from Helena, received about nine o'clock to-night, says all the woman and children have left Friar's Point. The men were forming in line at three o'clock, and a fight was momentarily expected. Assistance was greatly needed. A boat load will probably leave here to-night.

Fourth Dispatch.

Another dispatch just received says assistance is badly needed at Friar's Point. A company goes from here to-night. Friar's Point is fifteen miles from Helena, and there is no telegraphic communication with it.

Fifth Dispatch.

An Avalanche special from Helena, received at 10:30 to-night, says: There is great excitement here on account of the condition of affairs at Friar's Point. I passed there this morning, and the white people were much excited, while the negroes appeared quiet. Many white ladies have left there. Senator Alcorn has sent his daughter here for safety. It is reported that negroes, three hundred strong, were within a few miles of the town, and Gen. Chalmers, who was in command of the whites, went out and met them, and gave them ten minutes to disperse, when the negroes retired some three miles and again organized. Gen. Chalmers again advanced and ordered them to disperse, which they did. This latest report is from there, and it is supposed the negroes are awaiting reinforcements. Col. Bark and others have already left here for that place, and an effort is being made to organize a force to go down to-night. I think it is similar to the Austin troubles, and is all stirred up by bad men.

DANIEL HUGHES charged William McKinney with mayhem, before Alderman Edgar of Allegheny, yesterday. It appears from the prosecutor's statement of the case, that the two parties, with others, were serenading a newly married couple last August in McCandless township, when the serenaders got into a fight. Hughes and McKinney took an active part in the sport, and during the melee came together, when McKinney bit a good sized piece off of one of Hughes' ears. AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The exceedingly funny performance of the unequalled Vokes family was repeated last night to another large audience. No troupe that makes periodical visits to Pittsburgh is more popular than this one, and none more deserving of the cordial suppor of the amusement public.

Library Hall—Henrietta Chanfrau.

The New Orleans Company, with the cultured Henrietta Chanfrau as the bright particular star, will make its first appearance before a Pittsburgh audience at Library Hall this evening, in the celebrated society play, "Parted," and a full house will undoubtedly be on hand to witness the performance. The company embraces a large number of first-class actors, chosen especially for their excellence in their particular characters. Of the play to be presented to-morrow evening, the Louisville Courier-Journal says: "One of the most charming dramas of modern days was presented last night. "Was She Right" is certainly the most unexceptionable that has been seen this season. How natural and noble Mrs. Chranfrau was in every scene last night, her delighted audience can testify. She divested the character of Emily Presbury, the injured wife, of all stage traditions, and showed us life as we see it around us. In the impassioned scenes she was the mother and lady, expressing indignation or grief, as only a mother and lady would in a real situation. Mrs. Chanfrau possesses these two great aids of dramatic success—beauty and cultivation. For such a truthful and charming portraiture of a noble woman, beset by cruel circumstances, she deserves an ovation from Louisville ladies."

Fifth Avenue Theater.

"Life's Peril," the new play at this theater, has had two representations so far this week, and with Mr. Pierce in the prominent role it affords an hour and a half of pleasure and enjoyment. The usual matinee will be given this afternoon.

The money being spent by exhibitors at the Industrial Exposition, as well as those who are preparing to do some trade for the next few weeks, in having large streamers painted by Mr. John T. Gray, the painter, No. 54 Ninth street, is money well spent. Leave your orders to-day, so as to be in time.

Gray has employed two of the best sign painters in the city, who will give this special duty their entire attention for the next few days.

CITY HALL GLEANINGS.

Mr. Braun as an Objector—The Humane Society in Search of Additional Authority—Gas Affairs and Wharf Matters.

POLICE COMMITTEE.

At the monthly meeting of the Police Committee last night Clerk Hartzell's report of the business transacted in the Mayor's office, which has already been published, was received and filed, but Mr. Braun objected to it on the ground that the receipts of the City Treasurer, showing that the money collected in the Mayor's office during September had been paid to him, was not attached as required by law.

The police pay roll for September, amounting to $15,797.23 was ordered to be paid.

The following nominations of patrolmen, were made by the Mayor, and confirmed by the Committee, viz: Chas. A. Martin, Michael Cahue, Geo. B. Cupples, Daniel Motts, John L. Magee, Albert Protzman, John P. McKenna, William Sheargeld, Samuel O'Leary, C. J. Laramer, John Hauch, James Donahue, Robert A. Bleiell, August Drewes, Patrick Graney, Owen W. Jones, James Connor, E. B. Good.

Mr. Braun objected to the confirmation of a number of the men because their petitions had not been properly filled, up as required by law, and he gave notice that he would object to the Controller paying them if they are placed on the pay roll.

Bills were presented for meats to prisoners in the East End lock-ups, and for the transportation of prisoners to the Central Station. Mr. Braun also opposed the payment of these bills, alleging that they were contracted without authority. The committee passed them, however. A number of other bills were then presented and ordered to be paid.

The Mayor reported that the following members of the force had resigned during the last two months: John Weisenburn, Isaac Cline, W. W. Stearn, Max Conrad, Ed. Richter, Thomas Moorhead, George Woods, T. J. Jones; also, that the following had been dismissed during the same time: James Morrison, Pat. Ward, Alex. Hunter, Ed. Cramer, Ed. J. Dougherty, A. J. Cochran, John Burke, and Pat. Hammill.

Ordinance Committee.

The Ordinance Committee met yesterday afternoon and listened to a request from Zadok Street, Superintendent of the Humane Society, that an ordinance be prepared giving to the Society additional power to prevent cruelty to animals within the city limits, and also to prevent the sale of impure milk and diseased meat. The City Solicitor stated that Councils have no power to enact such a law, that authority being vested only in the Legislature. The act creating the office of Inspector of Meat and Milk is quite comprehensive, however, and makes it the duty of the Inspector to visit all slaughter houses, and stables where cows are kept and condemn all impure meat and milk. The members of the committee all expressed sympathy with the object of the Humane Society, and trusted that much would be done toward bettering the condition of dumb brutes, but they felt that Councils had no authority to pass such an ordinance as the one asked for. The matter was finally referred to the Meat Inspector and Board of Health, while the City Solicitor advised the Humane Society to enforce the laws now in existence to prevent cruelty to animals and get more legislation next Winter at Harrisburg.

An ordinance relating to the collection of fines and forfeitures was taken up and laid over for the reason that Councils have no power to pass it without additional legislation.

The preparation was ordered of an ordinance amending an ordinance governing street improvements, and directing the Board of Viewers to examine and report, when an improvement is projected, whether a sufficient amount of benefits can be collected to pay for it, before the work is commenced.

The Gas Committee.

The Gas Committee yesterday ordered the payment of the following bills:

West Pittsburgh Gas Co. for a gas lamp	$ 25 00
South Side Gas Co., extras	72 00
South Side Gas Co., gas	2,902 20
East End Gas Co.	4,210 30
Pittsburgh Gas Co.	12,585 26
Total	$19,794 85

Lamps were ordered to be placed at the following points: Corner Bingham and Seventh streets, South Side; corner of Edwards alley and Eighteenth street, South Side: four on Carson street additional, including sixteen in all between Monongahela bridge and Temperanceville; seven on Lincoln avenue and Lake street; four on Elsworth avenue bridge; two on Fifth avenue at Soho; six on Hiland avenue, extension, between Fifth and Penn avenues; two on Wylie avenue between Vine and Arthurs streets; one on Crawford street, 175 feet south of Wylie avenue; four on railroad bridge on Penn avenue. A number of petitions for lamps in other localities were referred to a sub-committee.

A communication from the East End Gas Co., offering to furnish gas to the city at $1.25 per thousand feet for fifteen years, was referred to the City Attorney. Mr. Shipton expressed his opposition to entering into any contract for that length of time.

Monongahela Wharf Committee.

At last evening's session of this committee the matter of a claim, amounting to $120, which the city has against Charles Stolzenbach, for wharfage on the South Side, was taken up and the City Attorney advised the committee to collect the whole amount due. The clerk read from the minutes of a former meeting an extract which stated that Mr. Stolzenbach claimed a credit of $100, on the amount due, for the reason that he had engaged in an expensive law suit, which had resulted in establishing the claim of the city to the South Side wharf. Mr. Hahn therefore moved that but $75 be collected from the debtor, which was carried.

Wharfmaster Evans, of the South Side, reported $300 as his September receipts, and $284.32 as the expenditures. There was no report from Mr. Buchanan, of the city proper, owing to his sickness.

THE opinion of the United States Supreme Court, upon the right of women to vote under the Constitution, declares that the Constitution does not confer the right of suffrage upon any one, not even upon male voters. This may surprise many people, but it may be of some consolation to the disappointed ladies.

THE outrage and murder of a young lady in New Hampshire is another of a class of crimes that cannot be too swiftly or severely punished. The perpetrator of the deed will doubtless be speedily discovered, and should be promptly hung. Nothing short of certain and swift hanging will serve to break up the business of perpetrating such horrible crimes.

SOME one has been at the pains to collate the history of the Infallibility struggle in the Catholic Church, and to point out what difficulties it has met with. The first proposers of the idea were burned at the stake; and later others were harshly treated by successive Popes. Even Pius IX., when first elected, was opposed to the idea, but the Jesuits took the subject in charge, and finally carried it through. Strange that so important a doctrine should have been so slow to obtain recognition.

AN anonymous letter has been received by Mr. ROSS, announcing that CHARLEY ROSS is alive and well, and in England, and requesting him to advertise. In order to ascertain the whereabouts of the boy, he was to advertise for a certain person who would be made the go-between. Then a letter was received informing this person that the child was with a Gypsy family in England, and urging him to go there to find it. It seems very like a tricky scheme, with little in it to inspire hope.

THE Post thinks the intimations relative to the Catholic effort to subvert our public school system, the mere provoking of idle fears. Hardly so. In this county the Democrats have made up the bulk of their ticket of Catholics,—a significant circumstance in itself. Add to this that the highest officials of the Church in this country have been outspoken in their declarations on the subject, and that in Ohio, New Jersey and New York, organized efforts have been made, and we can see the best reasons for believing that the design to break down and destroy our school system is a part of the deliberate policy of that Church.

THE Republicans of Elizabeth held a mass meeting on Monday evening, that was largely attended, and was very attentive and orderly, and productive of good results. The organization at that point in the county is excellently good, and a thorough canvass is being made of all the voters in the district. The fears of defection have all been dissipated, and not more than a half dozen persons are known who will refuse to vote with the party, who have been identified with it before. A large number, who last year voted other tickets, announce their purpose to vote the Republican ticket this year. It is felt, even among the temperance element, that a vote for BROWNE will practically be a vote for PERSHING. So the element relied upon to break away from us will disappoint those who expected it, and the borough of Elizabeth will show a grand record this year.

THE New York Sun launches its fiercest sarcasms on PIOLLET. This seems all the more singular, as it generally favors, like all other "independent" papers, the Democratic party. Yet it is moved to say, in its most sarcastic vein: "As for PIOLLET, he is even worse. From him they have no reason to expect anything but sharp and serious work. His life, his character, his aggressive career as a reformer, with the great constituency of farmers and workingmen whom his eloquence, more than anything else, has awakened to the necessity of self-protection, make him the very incarnation of all that is dreadful to the Ring. When SAM. JOSEPHS heard of his nomination he exclaimed out of the depths of his soul: 'Great GOD! if he ever gets into the treasury, he won't leave a leaf unturned!'" And he might safely have added, nor a dollar unstolen upon which he could lay his hands.

AMONG the established institutions of the country seems to be the Woman Congress, yearly sessions of which seem to be in order. Last year it was held in Chicago, and was turned into ridicule by a lady who had patents on certain under garments, making these a prominent subject of debate. This year, the Congress will be held in Syracuse, New York, and arrangements have been made for a more dignified order of proceedings. The Committee on Topics and Papers, of which Mrs. JULIA WARD HOWE is Chairman, has distributed through every town in the United States a circular which contains a number of questions on this point. If full answers are received, the reports submitted to the Congress will show, with approximate exactness, how many working-women there are in the country, how they are paid, and what sort of homes they have; the number of women teachers, their pay, and the manner in which they are treated; the number of "literary women," and their pursuits; the number of feminine doctors, regularly or irregularly educated for the profession; the number of women in the ministry; the number of feminine students in the different colleges; the occupations of the graduates of those colleges; the number of women engaged in scientific study, in agriculture, and in school superintendence; the number of criminal women, and the methods tried by other women to reform them; and the associations of women for philanthropic or other purposes. Other interesting subjects will be arranged for discussion, and it really begins to appear as if the Congress might be useful in improving the condition of women dependent on their own labor for support.

WE ARE gratified to hear that our night schools, throughout the city, have been largely attended, thus far, and the interest manifested much greater than usual. These evening schools are of great advantage, especially to those who in the daytime must engage in labor, or in learning trades. The only time permitted them, in which to gather the elements of an education, is the evening, and this is being very generally improved. As an Eastern contemporary states it, "The opening of night schools, if met with due attention from those whom it most concerns, will eventually become one of the very best features in our public school system. When a pupil is grounded in the rudiments of an education, and must change his occupation from school to the workshop, the store, or any other bread-earning pursuit, it is simply sad if he does not still cultivate his intellect. In neglecting to do so he surrenders the best part of his existence. He exposes himself to temptations against which mental culture would protect him. And not only so, but he surrenders himself to a lower position than that to which he is entitled if he would but educate and exercise himself to attain it." It should be the particular care of every parent to see that their children, if occupied so that they cannot attend day schools, at least give a portion of their time to evening schools, and secure the advantages they afford.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

The careful Harrisburg correspondent of the Philadelphia Press has gathered from gentlemen from different portions of the State, who are there in pursuit of their business, some facts bearing on the present canvass, which are of special interest, and which may be relied on as correct. There is not a single Republican, he says, competent to express an opinion of the situation, who believes that the Democracy have any prospect of success. It is also a singular fact that the majority of the men who have reported, agree as to their statement of the Democratic plan of conducting the campaign, which is to encourage as many Republicans as possible to vote the Prohibitory ticket, and to work upon the sympathies of Republican Grangers to convince them that it is their duty to support the Democratic party because it is the only reliable free-trade organization in the country. The financial question is entirely lost sight of by the intriguers; all questions relating to the administration of State affairs, to reforms under the new Constitution, are ignored, and the campaign reduced to the jugglery described. There is no fair discussion of the real issues involved, which is one of the reasons why Mr. PERSHING is not allowed to go among the people, as Gov. HARTRANFT goes, to meet them face to face. The object is to win by a trick, to wrest a victory from the infatuation of men insanely pursuing impracticable objects; and then when seated in power, the leaders of the Democratic party will with impunity restore the Government to a condition not only opposed to the organic law, but directly in opposition to the will of the majority, if fairly taken. Fortunately the great mass of the people seem to understand the objects of the Democratic leaders, and the elements which they calculated would fall spontaneously within their control are above and beyond their reach. The news from the counties which voted in favor of the local option is unmistakable. In those counties the Democracy started with the cry that it was the duty of the Prohibitionists to vote for BROWN and PENYPACKER, and it is more than likely a very large number of Republicans who belong to the order of Good Templars would have done so had not the Democratic leaders manifested so much anxiety for them to desert their party. The fact that the Democratic press championed the prohibition cause has thwarted their own hypocrisy and defeated the infatuation of the men who plotted to mislead honest prohibitionists. The veil has been lifted from the eyes of these people, and they now see where they stand. They see that their cause, its moral force and sacred importance, were never in as much danger as they are now, under the manipulation of the Democratic leaders, who have taken the spirit of prohibition to the mountain top, offering it a fair realm if it will only fall down to worship it in the shape of a vote to defeat the Republican party, which is the true friend of reform. But the trick has been exposed, and the politico-temperance ticket, which is revealed as an auxiliary of the Democratic party, will not secure one out of every twenty Republicans who are prohibitionists. Every day of discussion increases the light on these facts, and every man who goes into the field of action returns with the same story, to wit: That the Republican party is a unit, and the Democratic leaders, in their efforts to deceive the people and form outside combinations, have entangled themselves in meshes from which they cannot escape without necessarily fatal wounds. Such is the situation, as intelligent Republicans view it.

DEMOCRACY AND CONTRACTION.

We learn that there are those who imagine that the Democratic platform, as adopted at Erie, means wild inflation. Undoubtedly the speech of Mr. HUGHES, and the general intent of his committee, was to create the impression that the Ohio platform was substantially re-enacted, and that, therefore, full inflation is the doctrine taught. That it was their intent to create this impression, we fully believe; but aside from the contradictory features of the platform, it really is strongly contraction, in the only part that is really positive. The demand is made, after accusing, falsely, the Republican party with having contracted the currency, under the force resumption act, that the national banking system be abolished, and State banks substituted. To accomplish this, the national banks must close up their affairs, go into liquidation, and the national banking laws be repealed. The national banks of the country have loaned an aggregate of about $1,400,000,000, all of which must be called in, if they go into liquidation. To meet this vast demand would require the payment, by debtors of all classes, of the full amount loaned.

Really, notes, checks, drafts and other forms of business paper, constitute a very large part of the active circulating medium of the country. These, for the time being, would be blotted out under the arrangement proposed. Until the States legislate, and banks are organized under them, the notes and other paper that are now used in the National Banks must be out of use. Hence there would be a practical contraction to the amount of $1,400,000,000 effected, merely to change our banking system. We have no hesitancy in declaring that this measure would entirely prostrate the country, and destroy business and paralize labor. It could have no other possible effect. There is no imaginable way in which to reach the change proposed than that mentioned. Hence it amounts to a deliberate proposition to prostrate the industries of the country, by at least contracting the indebtedness of the people, to the extent named. And this is the only proposition sufficiently in accord with the old time views of the Democratic party to be regarded as sincere and earnestly held. It has been their policy, through all the history of the party, and particularly from the days of Jackson on, to favor the management of all fiduciary questions, through State laws, and banks established under them. Hence this proposition is probably sincere.

The direct contraction of National bank circulation, under the plan proposed, will be $357,000,000. It is proposed, however, to meet this by enlarging to this extent, the volume of legal tenders. Yet this could not be so promptly accomplished as to at once put the new currency into the regular channels of trade. Legal tenders are not given away, and unless the Government were to pay them out for its own current expenses, or they were bought by the sale of bonds to the Government, there is no method of getting them into circulation. That there would be delay, and that they would only gradually find their way into circulation, cannot be doubted. We therefore may accept it as true, that the only effect of giving their resolution validity, will be the utter and absolute prostration of industry and business, at least for a time. Were the policy foreshadowed, its effect would be entirely like that which we think attends the announcement of resumption in 1879. The threat of resumption, at a given time, is all the harm contained in that act, and the threat to contract, at a wholesale rate, as proposed in the Democratic platform, will exert the same influence, in a much greater degree.

Thus while insult and opprobrium is hurled at the Republican party, on the pretense that it has contracted the currency, a proposition is put forward, which can have no other possible result than to contract it to a vast extent, and this for no good purpose whatever. We have had an experience in State banks. They have been the most unfortunate institutions we have had. In times of confidence, they inflated the currency to the full extent of their ability; and when called upon to redeem their notes, immediately went to the wall. The people have had a bitter and sorrowful experience with State banks, and want no more of them. Yet the Democracy, infatuated with the past, cling to the idea of restoring the old State bank system once more. A beautiful system of finance they would give us! They would have an unlimited issue of those unconstitutional legal tenders; then State banks to dispense them,—a mixture of National and State financial administration, which would be apt to harmonize beautifully. Commend us to Democratic financiers. They are able to run the entire gamut of irregularity; and to gather up, in one crude mass, all the impracticable and absurd ideas that are floating in crazy brains. We have a sample of this in the Democratic platform, which boxes the compass of financial crudities.

THERE were symptoms of the true inwardness of the people of Ohio at the election at Findlay yesterday. Last year the Democrats carried the town by 89 majority. Yesterday, on a very full vote, the Republicans had 137 majority.—Cincinnati Commercial, October 5th.

AN old Democrat in Norristown, who went to church for the first time on Sunday, picked up his hat and left in a huff when he heard the minister bearing down pretty hard on Pilate. He thought the reverend gentleman was pitching into the Democratic candidate for State Treasurer.

MR. ROBERT DALE OWEN has entirely recovered his physical health. The Indianapolis News says his mental condition has improved so much that he expects to leave the Institute in about a week. He proposes to spend the Winter at the home of his son Ernest, in Marquette.

A HANDSOME clock and a pair of mantle ornaments, made of nickel and gold and elaborately chased, will be presented to ex-Treasurer Spinner by the employes in the Treasurer's Office. The articles were purchased at a cost of five thousand dollars, and are now on exhibition at the Department.

A PORTRAIT of Jeanne d'Arc has been discovered. It is supposed to be an ex-voto to commemorate the delivery of Orleans. From a coat of arms which appears on it, and which was only given to her by Charles VII. in 1492, its date is not earlier than that year. Experts suggest that it may have been the work of a Scotch painter (Powers,) who painted the standard of the Maid of Orleans.

A FRAGMENT of the monument of Mrs. Commissary Blair, the first white woman born on the American continent, has been presented to the Tennessee Historical Society, at Nashville. Her husband was a preacher of the English Church, an active philanthropist, and a great friend of learning. He was the founder of William and Mary College, in Williamsburg, Va., and was for fifty years its President.

MR. WILLIAMS will answer to his name seven times when the roll of the next Congress is called. The patronymic Harris appears on the list three times, and the following names are twice recorded: Bagley, Baker, Brown, Burchard, Caldwell, Cannon, Clarke, Hamilton, Hewitt, Jones, Landers, Mackey, Phillips, Reilley, Robinson, Ross, Smith, Townsend, Vance, Walker, Wallace, Wilson and Wood.

MR. BENJAMIN MORAN, United States Minister to Lisbon, is visiting in London. He was a passenger on the Boyne, which was wrecked on the rocks off Brest in August. Through the lack of discipline on board, all the passengers barely escaped death. The sailors of the Boyne, as soon as the vessel struck the rocks, broke open the stores and appropriated the liquors, and robbed the passengers' trunks of money, jewelry, and everything of value. Mr. Moran says that his losses were more than $1,750, and that if the company does not reimburse him he shall have recourse to law.

A WOMAN in Baltimore, desiring death, but having no home in which to die, bought morphine at a drug store, and drank it as she walked in the street. He dipped her three times in spite of her protests. What made the error worse was that the woman was already a member of the Methodist church in full standing.

FREE morals are on the increase in Berlin. In 1859 the number of women placed under the supervision of the police was 11,379; in 1869 this number had risen to 23,466, and in 1870 to 73,709—shame, poverty, misery, and finally death being the fate of these unfortunates. Out of every ten marriages nowadays a divorce takes place; while money is the great ruling power, and greed and fun are the two objective points of Berlin ambition. Such are the cities governing the new German Empire, according to slightly jealous Bavarian philosophers.

DOT LEETLE LAMB.

The "True Story" of Mary's Young Sheep—How He Followed Her to School and How He Was Expelled.

There are floating about in the great ocean of literature stray chips of song or story, which, from their wit or wisdom, or from some unaccountable reason, become popularized and cherished more carefully than whole navies of world-renowned authors. Their parentage unknown, they come as literary foundlings to our doors, and, once admitted, command their own place in our affections. Among such is the poem, "Mary had a little lamb." There is hardly a child in the broad land who has not become familiar with the verses; not a college student but has sung them to a dozen different tunes. It has been parodied, paraphrased and translated into the dead languages. And yet scarce any one knows who is the author, or whether it is fictitious or founded on fact. It is, perhaps, in the truth of the story that the secret of its popularity lies. For it is the true account of an ancient that happened sixty-one years ago, not fifty miles from the Cradle of Liberty. And "Mary," a delightful old lady of threescore and ten, still lives and cherishes the memory of the event. The writer, on a recent visit, craved from her own lips the true story of the affair, and will produce it as nearly as possible.

MARY TELLS HER TALE UNADORNED.

"It was when I was nine years old," she said, "and we lived upon the farm. I used to go out to the barn every morning with father to see the cows and sheep. They all knew me, and the cows—old Broad and Short-horn and Brindle—would low a good-morning when I came to their stables. One cold day we found that during the night twin lambs had been born. You know that sheep will often disown one of twins, and this morning one poor little lamb was pushed out of the pen into the yard. It was almost starved and almost frozen, and father told me I might have it if I could make it live. So I took it into the house, wrapped it in a blanket, and fed it on peppermint and milk all day. When night came I could not bear to leave it for fear it would die, so mother made me up a little bed on the settee, and I nursed the poor thing all night, feeding it with a spoon, and by morning it could stand. After this we brought it up by hand until it grew to love me very much, and would stay with me wherever I went unless it was tied. I used before going to school in the moring to see that the lamb was all right, and securely fastened for the day. Well, one morning when my brother Nat and I were all ready, the lamb could not be found, and, supposing that it had gone out to pasture with the cows, we started on. I used to be a great singer, and the lamb would follow the sound of my voice. This morning, after we had gone some distance, I began to sing, and the lamb, hearing me, followed on and overtook us before we got to the school house. As it happened, we were early, so I went in very quietly, took the lamb into my seat, where it went to sleep, and I covered it up with my shawl. When the teacher came and the rest of the scholars, they did not notice anything amiss, and all was quiet until m spelling class was called. I had hardly taken my place before the patting of little feet was heard coming down the aisle, and the lamb stood beside me ready for its word. Of course the children all laughed and the teacher laughed, too, and the poor creature had to be turned out of doors. But it kept coming back, and at last had to be tied in the wood-shed till night. Now, that day, there was a young man in school, John Roulston by name, who was on a visit to one of the boys, and came as a spectator. He was a Boston boy and son of the riding-school master, and was fitting for Harvard College. He was very much pleased over what he saw in our school, and a few days after gave us the first three verses of the song. How or when it got into print I don't know."

SOME RELICS OF THOSE HAPPY DAYS.

Thus she ran on telling of the care she bestowed on her pet until it grew to be a sheep, and she would curl its long wool over a stick; and it bore lambs until there was a flock of five all her own; and finally how it was killed by an angry cow. Then she brought out a pair of her little girl stockings, knitted of yarn spun from the lamb's wool, the heels of which had been raveled out and given away piecemeal as mementoes. No one can doubt that she, whose youth was rendered famous by love for an unfortunate animal, has lived a life of beneficence and charity. With a heart overflowing with love toward all God's creatures, she has indeed lived to care for the needy and destitute, and be a mother to the motherless. And now, in a green old age, she is surrounded by those whom her warm heart long since taught to cling to her and follow as the lamb in her youth. When at last she shall cross the river she will find an eternal home in the green pastures and beside the still waters, where the Good Shepherd feeds his lambs. John Roulston died before entering college. What the world lost in him who wove into verse that immortalized them both the story of Mary and the lamb no one may say.

WILLIAM B. SAWYER.

Not Pretty, But Good.

The following story is told of the Duchess de Berri: She was extremely fond of Dieppe, and passed a great deal of her time there in Summer; indeed, it is said that the town owes to her fostering patronage the establishment of the workshops for the production of those exqusite ivory carvings which are well known to every stranger that tarried at Dieppe. One Summer evening a fisherman met a plainly dressed lady walking alone on the beach. He ventured to accost her, saying that he had a petition which he wished to present to the Duchess de Berri, but that he did not know how to proceed in order to do so. "Did you ever see the Duchess?" asked the lady. "No," was the answer, "but I am told that she is deuced ugly." "Give me the petition, at all events," said his questioner, "and it shall be placed in the hands of the Princess herself." The fisherman complied with the request, and a few days later he was summoned to the villa of the Duchess. What was his dismay, on being introduced to the presence of the Princess, to find that she was the person to whom he had given his petition! He commenced to stammer forth some incoherent excuse, but Marie Caroline interrupted him. "Your petition is granted," she said, smiling, "and henceforth, when people say that the Duchess de Berri has an ugly face, do you add, 'But she has also a kind heart!'"

By and By the Roses Wither.

By and by the roses wither,
By and by the leaves will fall,
By and by the crimson autumn
Sheds its lustre over all.
By and by our hopes will brighten,
Though the swallows homeward fly,
And false friends who seem to love us,
May forget us by and by.

By and by the rose that withers,
Will uplift its drooping head,
Awakened from its slumbe a
By an angel's gentle tread.
By and by will hearts be broken,
That have never known a sigh;
Friendless ones with joy will lighten
In the coming by and by.

By and by there will be false hearts,
By and by there will be true;
Do I hear you say you doubt it,
If you do then, why do you?
By and by bright eyes will moisten
When beneath the turf we lie,
There will still be those that love us,
In the silent by and by.

Murder Mystery Solved.

A great sensation has been created at Amsterdam by the discovery of the murderers of an old lady named Kouwen and her maid in December, 1872, a crime which had hitherto defied detection. It appears that a public house waiter, named Jut, was betrothed to the lady's former servant, but having no money to set up housekeeping, they agreed to rob and murder Mrs. Kouwen. They first murdered her servant and then the lady herself. Escaping all suspicion, they remained at the Hague till the following March, then married, and went to America, there sold the lady's American securities, and afterwards went to England, where they disposed of her Austrian bonds. The agent employed in this last transaction, however, was suspicious of something wrong, and Jut had to purchase his silence by a round sum of money. The pair next opened a tavern at Rotterdam, but their investment of a large sum in Dutch securities attracted notice. The police set their maidservant to watch them, and her information placed their guilt beyond doubt. They have confessed the crime.—Paris Correspondence London Times.

Mount Hamilton.

Mr. James Lick's selection of Mount Hamilton, in Santa Clara county, California, as the place to put his Observatory and great telescope, makes this description of the mountain by the San Jose Mercury interesting: "Mount Hamilton is 4,448 feet high. The summit is higher than any land within fifty miles, and consequently below the level of the plane of the Observatory, which, in an astronomical point of view, is the desideratum sought. The beautiful valley of San Jose, the snowy ridge of the Sierra Nevadas, and a boundless area of mountain scenery, are in the scope of vision, and the elevation is so high as to be above the fogs of Summer, and is not so high as to be much disturbed by the storms of Winter. The party that ascended the mountain on Sunday last had a magnificent view of the grand old Pacific, while the setting of the sun almost bewildered them by its gorgeousness. The road will open up a rich territory of agricultural lands, besides furnishing one of the most delightful and romantic drives in the United States."

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, October 6, 1875.

The situation in money matters remains without any special change, either as regards supply and demand or in the rates of interest. The supply of currency continues liberal, and borrowers who can command the right kind of security have no difficulty in obtaining all the funds they require. A review of the past few days, however, is rather more encouraging in commercial circles, a more cheerful feeling now generally prevailing, both East and West. There are occasional failures, but they are such as are not wide-spread in evil consequences. They are failures dating back to the panic of 1873, and though but now announced, are fairly chargeable to the expansion and extravagance that preceded that period. There is nothing new to remark concerning local stocks or real estate.

The following shows the business of the Philadelphia Clearing House for the week preceding Monday, October 4, 1875:

The stock market opened quiet and comparatively steady, except for Missouri Pacific, New Jersey Central and Union Pacific. Missouri Pacific opened at 29 and advanced to 29½, but afterwards declined to 24½. New Jersey Central fell off from 107 to 102½ regular, and to 100⅞ seller sixty days. Union Pacific declined from 63⅞ to 61⅞. Lake Shore advanced from 53⅞ to 54⅛, Northwest from 38⅞ to 39⅛, and Western Union from 76 to 76⅛, but the advance was afterwards lost. Pacific Mail declined from 35⅞ to 35⅛, rose to 36, and reacted to 35⅞. St. Paul fell off from 34½ to 33⅞, and recovered to 34⅛. Hannibal and St. Joseph declined from 18⅞ to 18⅛.

At the second call the market was weak. In closing dealings stocks were strong, and advanced ½ to 3⅞ per cent. from the lowest point of the day. The greatest rally was in Missouri Pacific, which recovered from 23⅛ to 27⅛. New Jersey Central, after declining from 107 to 102½, rallied to 104 bid. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western declined from 119⅛ to 117⅞, and finally recovered to 118⅝ bid. The wide fluctuations in these two coal roads attracted much attention to-day, but no satisfactory reason is given for the decline. Union Pacific opened at 63⅞, fell off to 61⅞, rallied to 62⅛, and closed at 62. The stock was quite active at the fluctuations, and dealings in it were more general than of late. The fluctuations in other shares were less important, the general list not being influenced to any large extent by the wide fluctuations noticed above.

In the late sales Lake Shore recovered to 54, Northwest to 38⅞, St. Paul to 34⅛, Pacific Mail to 36, Western Union to 76⅜, and New York Central to 102⅛. Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph declined to 17⅞. The transactions at the Stock Exchange aggregated 154,000 shares, of which 18,000 were Pacific Mail, 10,000 Western Union, 7,700 Northwest common, 42,000 St. Paul common, 1,300 preferred, 5,000 Erie, 44,000 Lake Shore, 2,300 Ohios, 25,000 Union Pacific, 20,000 Missouri Pacific, 5,000 New Jersey Central, 2,000 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, and 1,200 Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph.

The Chicago Oat Corner.

A correspondent writes from Bloomington, Illinois, to the Chicago Tribune, as follows:—The complication in the oat deal for September, caused by the failure to provide for their contracts on the part of those who sold short at low prices, leaves me in the following predicament: On the 5th of August I sold, through a commission house in your city, 22,000 bushels No. 2 oats for September delivery at 41½c. On the 16th I ordered 10,000 bushels of them bought, which was done at 35c. Later, on the 31st of the same month, I ordered the remaining 10,000 bu. bought, and the order was filled at 33¾. The 10,000 bu. bought at 35c were settled during the month, while the 10,000 bushels bought at 33 3-4c had not been delivered or settled on the last day of September. In order to protect myself, and to fill my sale at the higher price, I instructed my commission merchants to fill my sale at all events, and to settle with the party from whom he had them bought, at same price, if possible, or to lose 1-2c a bushel, if he could not do better. He filled my sale by buying in settlement at 38 1-2c, while the party who had sold to him refused, and still refuses, to settle at over 37c. Will you please inform me—and I presume there are others in the same unfortunate position who will be glad to be informed—if there is any way that I am to be protected from the loss thus sought to be laid on me. I don't know what the rules of your Produce Exchange are for such cases, but it seems to me they are not calculated to promote a very high grade of commercial integrity if they permit members to plead the "baby act" and cry "corner" to the extent of a cent and a half a bushel. Oats were worth 38c for shipment to New York thirty days ago. Who shall say that in thirty days from now—when grain now leaving your city will be due there—they may not then pay out more than 38c in Chicago.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, October 5, 1875.

Trade continues dull, and prices are weak and lower. Crude was quoted at $1,52 1-2 for immediate shipment, and United certificates at $1,27 1-2. The main cause of the reaction within the past week was the striking of a well in new territory, to which reference has previously been made in the GAZETTE. Refined, as compared with yesterday, has further declined; New York delivery, 13¾; Philadelphia, 12¾; Baltimore, 12¾ cents.

The Barrel trade is fair, but prices remain as last quoted; countries $1,40a1,50; city make, ordinary size, $1,60.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

Weekly Review of the Trade in New York

FLOUR AND MEAL.

A good degree of activity and buoyancy have distinguished our flours market the past week, and for all sound flour has presented a pleasant contrast to the features of the previous week; we allude more especially to the low grades; the demand for good and choice shipping extras has improved materially, and in these we note a steady improvement; some inquiry has prevailed for this and next month's delivery, but holders as a rule are unwilling to sell for forward delivery, at present prices, preferring to take the chances of the market, and the business has been limited; the season is now so far advanced and the corn and wheat harvests so late that farmers as a rule will be unable to market their wheat this and next month to the same extent they did last year, and we, therefore, do not count on much addition to our stock of good the present month; when new winter wheat flour first came to market, our Inspectors put the side brand on to a considerable portion of it that had a slight ground smell, regarding this as of little consequence, but subsequent experience has compelled them to reject all that has any unnatural smell; this they decided to do on Wednesday, and the result is that two-thirds of the new flour from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, and Missouri is rejected; hence we have so much of this description here that receivers find it extremely slow of sale, and the stock of this is increasing. Millers should not forget this, as the slightest admixture of grown or soft wheat with the sound is readily detected, and a refusal to put on the side brand cuts down the value $1@1,50 ℔ bbl, and millers cannot fail to appreciate the importance of the subject. Old amber and white wheat family brands have been in steady demand at a further slight advance on the medium grades. Early in the week there was some advance in fancy Minnesota, but jobbers came forward slowly, and the advance was not sustained. Very high grades of patent process have sold slowly at the extreme prices insisted on, but the low and medium qualities have been sold rather more freely at full prices, in part taken for the London market. The low grades of old winter wheat extras early in the week moved slowly at lower figures, but since Tuesday they have sold well at higher figures. New winter wheat (amber wheat) extras from Northern Indiana and Michigan could only be sold freely in the early part of the week by submitting to lower figures, though this was not general. Our stock of sound shipping extra is light, and these are held with more confidence at the close. No. 2 and superfine have been in fair request, and sound have improved. Rejected extras are selling at $4,75a5,25, and rejected family brands at $5,60a6,50, but they sell slowly, and stock accumulates. City ground flour has been active, the demand chiefly for the West Indies and South America, though a fair business has been done in family brands at $8,20a9 per barrel. The exports of the week are 24,368 barrels, against 47,781 barrels the corresponding week last year.

GRAIN.

The features of our wheat market the past week have presented a pleasing contrast to the preceding week. Since Saturday we have had quite a brisk and very general demand for old spring wheat at daily hardening prices; the moderate arrivals here and at all other Atlantic ports, and a light movement here, has convinced exporters that the aggregate exports from the Atlantic States during the autumn can under no circumstances come up to those of last year, and after the close of lake and canal navigation farmers are not likely to sell very freely unless at a material advance, as they will hold but little old winter wheat after getting in their autumn seed. The very wet weather at the Northwest from the 20th of August to the 16th of September greatly retarded the movement of wheat then; after the crop was secured thrashing was delayed, and in many localities the roads have been impassable, hence we cannot count on very liberal supplies of spring on the seaboard at the close of the year. In regard to Winter Wheat, there is so little of it that is really sound, there is no inducement for merchants at the West to forward it to the coast; the shrinkage in it is so great, the consumption thus far so out of proportion to the supply, and the prices here so very low, that business men are at a loss what to do with it, more especially now that our warehousemen decline to receive it and guarantee the weight. Our latest advices gave the Winter Wheat States more than confirm our previous statements of the damage done the crops by the Spring frosts and January rains; but this will be more apparent when the old wheat is exhausted. Most dealers have been disappointed at the course of this and European markets since the 20th of August; but the fact is they, as a rule, have anticipated too much the great pressure of supplies (many of them of very poor quality) upon the Liverpool, Glasgow, and London markets has been nearly double the quantity for the corresponding time last year, and until those markets are relieved from this great burden, can we count on a more healthy and satisfactory state of things. Later advices from Great Britain fully confirm our previous estimates of a deficiency of 90,000,000 bushels certainly, and other authorities, quite as well informed as our correspondent, place the deficiency at more than 100,000,000 bushels; now, with all the facts before us of the production of wheat throughout the world, we are at a loss to determine from whence they are to obtain supplies to make good their deficiency. Later advices from France do not change our estimates of this year's production of wheat in that country. Last year early in the season they estimated their wheat crop at 125,000,000 hectolitres; later they reduced their estimates to 115,000,000 hectolitres, but later experience conclusively proved that 110,000,000 was a liberal estimate, and even with that excellent crop they imported more than they exported for the year ending with the 31st day of August. Now with a crop which they place at 96,000,000 hectolitres, what is likely to be the result? We can only judge by the past twenty years' observation. Our correspondent at Paris places their crop at 86,000,000 hectolitres, and reports a moderate supply of Old Meal still in farmers' hands in the northern provinces, and nothing of moment in the middle or southern districts. In Eastern Europe, as thrashing progresses, the yield does not come up to their former moderate estimates. The movement of wheat in the Baltic and Black Seas has fallen off since the 10th of September, the prices bid for it not being satisfactory to farmers and dealers, and there is a decided falling off in the number of vessels passing the Dardanelles; but the supplies now afloat for the United Kingdom and the liberal quantity now in warehouse at their principal ports of entry dispel any apprehension of short supplies for a few months to come. The decided change in our market this week was not unexpected to us, though we fear the reaction is too violent to be lasting. Soft spring wheats are not so objectionable as the winter; the former has been in better demand and closes higher. Old winter is higher, but the demand for it has proved light. The exports of the week are 394,213 bush, against 872,134 bush the corresponding week last year. The exports from the coast are only 493,423 bush, less than half our former estimate. The advance in spring wheat since our last is 7-10c per bush, and winter wheats (sound) 3a6c. Since writing the above, we have the very important advices from California that the crop there, now that the threshing is over, proves to be one-third short of the estimate given in the latter part of June and early in July, and the result is they have only 225,000 tons for export, against 520,000 tons the last year. Oregon, it is stated, will have 10 per cent. more for export than last year.

Highwines.

(From F. O. Boyd & Co.'s circular, New York, Oct. 2.)—Our highwine market has been fairly active during the week. On Monday, 27th, there were sales of 350 barrels at $1,21 per gallon, and the market has fluctuated between that price and $1,19½ all the week, closing to-day firm at $1,19 1-2. The production remains about as last reported, and has been somewhat increased since September 1, at which date the total production of distilled spirits was equal to 165,429 gallons per day, upon which the Government tax is $148,866 10. Of this amount the following States were producing 143,670 gallons: Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and New York—Illinois alone producing more than one-half of this. With the continued increase of demand we look for heavier receipts, which still continues to be considerably within the requirements of the trade. Alcohol tax paid is in good demand, and sells readily at highwine price. Alcohol for export entirely nominal, no orders being in the market, but some effort is being made by exporters to obtain orders at about 52c per gallon. Receipts—Highwines and alcohol 1,300 bbls; sales 195 bbls, stock under 2,000 bbls.

Sergeant Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was two feet and stationry. Cloudy and warm with indications favorable for rain.

THE Arkansas river is rising.

THE Bonnie Lee was to leave Louisville for New Orleans yesterday.

BOTH the Allegheny and Monongahela were stationary at headwaters yesterday.

THE steam yacht Ariadne left Erie, Pa., Saturday, for St. Louis, via Sioux and Wisconsin rivers.

ON the first inst. there were 184 boats and 5 barges of coal at New Orleans—about 4,048,000 bushels.

CAPT. SAMUEL P. NAYLOR, of the steamer Mary D., died at his home in Manchester, Adams County, O. last Tuesday morning.

THE Arlington arrived at Cincinnati all right on Monday, having made the round trip to New Orleans in about twenty-five days.

THE little steamer Union is loading a flat for Parkersburg; she is the first boat to receive freight since the departure of the W. S. Holt.

CAPT. H. U. HART is commanding the Emma Graham in the Pomeroy trade, Captain Drown having been called home by illness in his family.

CAPT. ADAM POE contemplates naming his new boat Big-Foot, after an Indian Chief of that name, who was killed years ago by his (Capt. Poe's) grandfather.

CAPT. JOHN CANNON has contracted with Jas. Howard & Co. for a new hull for the machinery of the famous Robert E. Lee. The new hull will be fifteen feet longer than the old one, and something wider, making it 310 long and 48 feet beam.

AS we have heard nothing in regard to the proposed Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packet line, we fear that the project has been abandoned. There may be money in it, but it is hard to convince people who have capital to invest it in steamboat stock for the present.

THE COMING RACE.

Coulter Goes Into Training.

Yesterday Coulter went into active training in anticipation of his race with Morris on the 16th. He has been taken in charge by Patsy Speer, who trained him for the last race. He is now reported to be in good condition, and will not require so much "dressing down" as was the case before the last race. Morris, too, we understand, has put himself into the hands of his trainers. Both parties talk quite confidently. A pretty race is anticipated.

THE EPIZOOTIC.

Its Appearance in Pittsburgh.

The appearance of the epizootic in some of the eastern cities within the last few weeks has caused no little interest among horsemen as the spread of the disease was anticipated. After having attacked a number of horses in New York, Baltimore and other places, it has made it appearance in Pittsburgh. There are already a number of horses rendered unfit for use, so severely have they been attacked with the disease. The epidemic is raging among the horses in one or two of the street car stables and threatens to spread still more. Outside of these places its effects have been seen but little, but it became necessary yesterday to run street cars by new horses.

ALLEGHENY PARKS.

Notes of New Improvements Made.

The Allegheny Park Commission held a meeting last evening, Mr. J. C. Patterson presiding. The monthly pay roll and bills amounting in all to $1,032.20 were approved. The contract for repainting and replacing the broken glass in the greenhouse was awarded to Mr. R. H. Wilson for $95 for the painting, and $76 for reglazing.

Mr. Lea reported that he had put the windmill together in West Park, and that it was all right. The work of boring the well for water will probably be commenced about the latter part of the present week. The windmill will probably not be put up until next spring. After a lengthy discussion in regard to the matter, the Commission adjourned.

CAVED IN.

Caught Under an Embankment—Two Men Seriously Injured.

About nine o'clock yesterday morning an accident occurred in the Ninth ward, Allegheny, by which two men named Pat. Grady and Pat Murphy were severely injured. Both these men are in the employment of Mr. Fred. Gwinner, the contractor who is now engaged in filling up Spruce street. The earth to make the fill is taken from the side of the hill, a short distance above Spruce street, and the two men—Grady and Murphy—were engaged digging there, and had undermined a portion of the embankment when it caved in before they could get out of the way, and both were buried under the falling earth. They were quickly dug out and removed to a house near by and Drs. Buchanan and Riggs summoned, who found it necessary to amputate Grady's leg below the knee. Murphy was assisted to his home, he having escaped receiving any broken bones, but he was injured internally. The condition of both men last evening was considered serious.

A Dwelling on Mt. Washington Destroyed.

Last evening about eight o'clock a little girl on Union street, Mt. Washington, created some excitement by screaming fire. After she had called several times the attention of a number of people in the vicinity was attracted and they ascertained that the dwelling house of Mr. Albert Hamilton was furnishing the material for a first-class bonfire. The neighbors went to work with a will, but unfortunately the fire had gained such a headway before it was discovered that it could not be checked. The house and nearly all of its contents were destroyed. It was a two-story frame of good character. The loss will foot up between $2,000 and $2,500, upon which there is an insurance of $1,500 in a home company. The origin of the fire is unknown. The family was absent at the time, and it was first discovered by the little girl, who had gone to the house to return some articles that had been borrowed from the family. She first saw the fire near the stove, and it is thought that perhaps a live coal had dropped out on the floor and started the blaze. The neighbors worked energetically, but owing to the insufficient water supply, they were unable to save the property from destruction.

KILLED INSTANTLY.

A Lady's Neck Broken by Being Thrown From a Carriage While Attending the Funeral of a Relative.

One of the most remarkably sudden, singular and distressing deaths we have heard of for a long time occurred, says the Altoona Mirror, on Saturday afternoon, between three and four o'clock, near Roaring Spring, this county. Mr. and Mrs. Hetrick were returning in a carriage from the funeral of Mr. Isaac Bowers, and when but a short distance from Roaring Spring, a team of horses, driven by a young man named Fox, ran into the rear part of Mr. Hetrick's carriage, upsetting it and throwing Mr. H. and wife to the ground. After the accident Mr. H. noticed that his wife did not make any effort to rise. He approached her, lifted her up and asked her if she was hurt. She did not answer him, but her head fell forward, and he thought she thereby signified an affirmative answer. She was removed to a neighboring house, a physician was called and he pronounced Mrs. Hetrick's neck broken. The unfortunate lady expired in a few moments, without speaking a word. The remains were subsequently removed to Woodbury, the late residence of the deceased, and the funeral took place Monday morning at ten o'clock. Mrs. H. was a very lusty person, weighing about two hundred pounds, and it is presumed that her great weight was one of the causes of the terrible result of the accident. Mr. H. received only slight injuries.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

A Little Homily Appropriate to the Times.

In this week's issue of the Presbyterian Banner there is a slight departure from the beaten path of theological discussion, to a consideration of the business outlook. After a review of the signs of the times, which the Banner considers highly encouraging, it gives its readers a little bit of judicious advice in this wise: "In view of all these things is it not about time to cease evil forebodings and complaining and discouraging comments? Do we not need to arouse ourselves, take fresh courage, go manfully to work, and do as much as in us lies to restore general confidence? Every one that holds back and declines to take his place and assume his fair share of responsibility, is simply delaying the good time coming. Let those who have money, lay it out judiciously in the encouragement of trade and labor, and for the physical, intellectual and religious benefit of themselves and their families; nor let them be deaf to the calls of benevolence. While those whose lot it is to labor, as it is with most of us, should go to work cheerfully, though our pay may be less than we could desire. The children must be provided with schools, books and newspapers, and the great schemes of the Church must be supported as God may give us the ability. In faith, patience and hope, let us all address ourselves to our respective callings, and cease to murmur and complain, thus continuing the very state of things we so much deplore. We will be the better for it ourselves, the world will be better for it, and the Church will also be the better for it in every department of its appropriate work. It is a Christian duty to expect better things, and to labor to this end."

TO-MORROW'S PROCESSION.

Are You Ready for It?

We noticed, yesterday, several very funny transparencies painted by Mr. John T. Gray, the painter, on Ninth street, intended for to-morrow's procession. These transparencies were ordered by several of our business firms, and no doubt will pay them well for their investment. Gray knows how to get them up.

"THE TWO ORPHANS."

Argument Before the Court Yesterday—The Preliminary Injunction Dissolved.

In our last issue we stated that a preliminary injunction had been granted by Judge Ewing, of the Common Pleas Court No. 2, on Monday, restraining George M. Wallace, Manager, and McKee Rankin et ux. from presenting the play of "The Two Orphans" at the Academy of Music during the present week. The argument on the motion to dissolve the injunction was heard by Judge Ewing yesterday, which occupied several hours, Messrs. Brooke, Heverin and Carnahan appearing for the plaintiffs, and Messrs. Weir and Gibson for the respondents. The motion for the dissolution of the injunction was based upon the affidavits of Messrs. Arthur McKee Rankin and Charles H. Vandenhoff, two of the respondents, which was in substance that they had been and are still performing the play as translated by John Oxenford, of London, and that they had produced it for several hundred nights, without interference.

The opening address on the part of the complainants was made by Mr. Brooks, who stated that Mr. Rankin was a member of the Union Square Theatre in New York, and after having played for six months in that theatre, in the "Two Orphans," and seeing the vast amount of profit it was bringing to the owners of that place of amusement, Messrs. Shook & Palmer, he concluded to make a piracy upon them, and make money for himself out of it. Rankin started on his career of piracy and this necessitated the following up of him through counsel by Shook & Palmer through more than half a dozen States of the Union. The gentleman occupied the floor for about an hour, when he was followed by Mr. Gibson on the part of the respondents. As soon as it was made known that a similar action had been begun in the United States Circuit Court on Saturday evening, Judge Ewing called for the petition which had been filed with Clerk Gamble, which was furnished. At the conclusion of the arguments, the Court adjourned until five o'clock, at which time both the contending parties and their respective counsel were present, when Judge Ewing, after calling attention to the fact that he had not had time to prepare an exhaustive opinion, read the following:

The preliminary injunction in this case was granted October 4th, on a hearing ex parte, on the allegation that notice could not be given to the principal defendants, and in a very strong prima facie case made in the complainants' bill and the affidavits setting forth repeated adjudications by Courts of this and other States, and of the United States, in favor of the right of the plaintiffs. The hearing having been ex parte, we now treat the case on motion of the defendants to dissolve the injunction, as though it were heard for the first time It is now disclosed in the answer of the defendant, and admitted by the complainants, that on the 2d of October the complainants filed a bill against the defendants in the United States Circuit Court for this District. The bill has been produced before us, as also a certificate of the clerk, that no process has been issued thereon. An examination of the bill shows that its complaint and the relief prayed for, is substantially the same as in the bill filed in this Court. The citizenship of the parties, complainant and defendant is set forth so as to give that Court general jurisdiction of the subject matter, and we are unable to see why that Court has not full jurisdiction of the entire subject of litigation. Until final decree in that Court we do not doubt our jurisdiction in the case. But we regard the practice of bringing suits in two Courts at the same time for the same subject matter as a bad one, and one not to be encouraged. Had the previous filing of this bill in the United States Court been known to us at the time of the application for a preliminary injunction, we would have refused to entertain the motion. On the merits of the case we are inclined to believe that the right is with the plaintiff, but for the reasons above given we will dissolve the injunction.

The following order was then made: And now, October 5, 1875, this case came on to be heard on the motion of defendants to dissolve the preliminary injunction heretofore granted, and having been argued by counsel upon consideration thereof, it is ordered that the preliminary injunction granted October 4, 1875, be dissolved without prejudice to the rights of the complainants, on twelve hours' notice to the defendants to again move the Court for a preliminary injunction.

As soon as the decision of the Court was announced, the crowd in the lobby greeted the news of the dissolution of the injunction with a shout, which aroused the indignation of Judge Ewing, who ordered the lobby cleared without delay. Henry Jacobi had come within the bar and was especially jubilant over the result, and the Court, observing his hilarity, ordered one of the tipstaves to bring him before the bench, when the following took place:

Judge Ewing—What is your name?

Answer—Henry Jacobi.

Judge—What excuse have you to offer for your conduct in the presence of the Court?

A—None.

Judge—"Well, sir, you have been guilty of contempt of Court, and I will fine you ten dollars, in default of the payment of which, you stand committed."

At this point the young man turned very pale, and realized that he was in a bad box. He had no money, but the decree of the Court was like unto the law of the Medes and Persians, which was unalterable. So Henry began to look about for his friends. Seeing Mr. Jonas, a cigar dealer, on Fifth avenue, he called him to his aid.

Mr. Jonas came forward, and addressed the Judge as follows:

"I have known this young man for some time, and I do not think he meant anything wrong by his actions. In fact, I think he was ignorant that he was doing anything out of the way.

The Court—I am disposed to believe that he did not intentionally violate the rules of the Court, and that is why I made his fine so light; otherwise, it would have been ten times as much.

Finding that there was no use trying to influence the Judge to change his decision, Jacobi borrowed the amount needed and paid his fine.

As soon as this was disposed of, Mr. Brooks moved the Court to grant a preliminary injunction against Wallace et al. on the merits of the case at once, instead of giving them twelve hours' notice, as stated in the order. In making the motion, counsel stated that the plaintiffs were under $5,000 bonds, and that if an injunction could not be obtained before to-day, the play could be presented last night, to the damage of the plaintiffs. Judge Ewing refused to change the order, so the matter will come before him again to-day on the merits of the case, as the petition has been withdrawn from the United States Circuit Court.

ALLEGHENY SCHOOL CONTROLLERS.

Session of the Board Last Night—Annual Report of the City Superintendent—The School for Deaf Mutes—Statistics.

The Board of School Controllers of Allegheny city held a regular monthly meeting last night. The following members were present at roll call: Messrs. Arrott, Benney, Dunlap, Davidson, Foerster, Faas, Golden, Hobson, Hanny, Hemphill, Hamilton, Malcolm Hay, Robert Hay, Cochran, Donaldson, Lea, Lorenz, R. C. Miller, Marthens, P. H. Miller, McCance, Oliver, Patterson, Park, Poppenger, Riggs, Ritenour, Straub, Smith, Stewart, Sutton, Walton, Yeager, and President King.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Benney, from the Second ward, reported the election of Miss Amelia Withcrow and Miss Lillie D. Hunter, additional teachers in the primary department. Confirmed.

City Superintendent Davis read his annual report concerning the progress made by the schools during the year ending June last. It was quite lengthy and treated in detail of the improvements that have been made in school buildings and furniture, of the number and classification of schools, of the primary department, the revised course of instruction, penmanship, vocal music, drawing, examinations, teachers' examinations, institutes, visits and teachers. The report was very comprehensive and thoroughly satisfactory, and contained numerous valuable and pertinent suggestions which, if adopted and put in force would work to the advantage of the city schools. It was received and ordered to be printed in the annual report of the Board.

Mr. R. C. Miller, of the Library Committee, reported that the number of books taken from the library last month was 3,499, being an increase of 1,100 over the corresponding month of last year.

Mr. Malcolm Hay, from the special committee appointed at the last meeting to consider the petition then presented to the Board asking for the establishment of a school in Allegheny City for the education of deaf mutes, submitted a lengthy report giving a detailed account of the condition of the school for deaf mutes in Pittsburgh and the cost per capita for the education of the deaf mutes of Allegheny in that school. The report ended by stating that in the opinion of the committee it would be injudicious to establish another school of that sort in Allegheny. It was received and its recommendations adopted.

On motion of Mr. R. C. Miller the matter of a training school for primary teachers was referred to the Committee on School Inspection.

A letter from J. Vannote, Secretary of the Industrial Exposition, inviting the Board to participate in the opening exercises of the Exposition was read, and a resolution presented by Mr. Benney, providing for the closing of the schools on Thursday, was adopted. Mr. Hay objected to the Board taking part in the initial exercises, and pronounced such an idea nonsensical and absurd. His remarks upon the subject were effective enough to induce the Board to decide to take no part in the parade, although the schools will be closed out of respect for and in recognition of the Exposition.

Superintendent Davis submitted the following statistical report regarding the schools for the month of September:

Total enrollments, 9,262; average attendance, 8,058; per cent. of attendance, 87; average attendance in primary department, 5,049; average attendance in medium department, 1,646; average attendance in grammar department, 1,115; average attendance in High School, 258; number of parents' visits, 184; number of directors' visits, 274; number of pupils not absent from school during the month, 3,919; number of pupils attending schools in other wards or precincts than those in which they live, 433.

A number of bills were approved and the Board adjourned.

EXPOSITIONISMS.

Stray Notes Concerning the Great Exhibition.

Yesterday the interior of the building was cleared for the exhibitors, and they went to work at once. They are making every exertion to get everything arranged in time. All afternoon long and far into the evening there was a line of wagons in front of the building filled with goods. As fast as one wagon was emptied another would take its place. All the exhibitors had gangs of men at work, so that they will get their samples in order without delay.

It is now thought that Power Hall cannot possibly be got ready in time. The framework is not yet completed. The boiler was put in position yesterday. It will be several days before this department will be in good order.

The Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution, "that the Chamber of Commerce hold a general meeting in the reception room of the Industrial Exposition, on Monday, 11th inst., at 11 A. M., and that a full attendance of members be requested."

Mr. C. W. Batchelor declines to accept the Chief Marshalship of the procession, because he will be out of the city on Thursday. He was elected without being consulted.

Gen. James S. Negley is talked of as Chief Marshal of the procession.

The Allegheny fire department will not participate in the parade fixed for the opening of the Exposition, the authorities deeming it imprudent to allow the engines to go out of the city.

Arrangements for the grand parade are progressing smoothly. Besides the military, the Councils and municipal officers of both cities will appear in the procession. Over a hundred of our leading manufacturers and merchants will also aid in making it a grand display.

Some additional letters were received yesterday morning by Mr. Vannote, the Secretary of the Executive Committee, from some of the prominent men of our State who have received invitations to be present at the opening exercises. Hon. Henry Rawle, of Erie, the Republican candidate for State Treasurer, writes: "I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of the 23d ult., inviting me to participate in the opening of the first Exposition of the Tradesmen's Industrial Institute, and in reply would say that it would afford me great pleasure to meet with you on that occasion and to do all in my power to forward the interest of the Institute." Hon. J. M. Dickey, a member of the Legislature, writes from Franklin: "I accept your kind invitation, and expect to be present with you on that occasion." Another letter was received from a gentleman who will no doubt take considerable interest in viewing the location of the Exposition buildings. The writer, Hon. A. W. Bell, also a member of the Legislature, says in this letter, which is dated at Brady's Bend, October 4th, that he will try and be in the city at the opening exercises. In a postscript, Mr. Bell says: "I was living on that Island in 1832, when father lost his house and everything that was in it by the big flood." Mr. T. H. Sherman, Secretary to Speaker Blaine, writes that Mr. B. is traveling in the North and away from postoffices and telegraph lines, but that he has no doubt the honorable gentleman will visit the Exposition. Levi P. Luckey, Esq., Secretary to President Grant, writes again, saying that he hopes in a day or two to give the precise date when the President will be at the Exposition. John Scott, Esq., President of the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company, writes that he will be present at the opening. D. J. Morrel, Esq., General Manager of the Cambria Iron Company, Johnstown, has written that he cannot be present at the opening of the exhibition, but certainly will be during its progress. Hon. Judge Ewing writes that he will be present at the opening. Thomas A. Scott, Esq., President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be present if possible. He sends his best wishes for the success of the Exposition. Hon. Jos R. Hawley, President of the Centennial Commission, writes that his duties in Philadelphia will prevent him participating in the opening ceremonies, but he wishes the Exposition all success, and will try and "take it in" before its close.

The Executive Committee yesterday morning increased the police force to twenty-five men.

Prof. S. J. Wilson, D. D., will make an address at the opening of the Tradesmen's Industrial Institute.

The art exhibition promises to be a large one. Many pictures have already been received from Chicago, and more are coming. So far as heard from our local artists contribute the following: F. Bassman, 3 landscapes, fruit piece, 2 study heads. George Hetzell, 3 landscapes, fruit piece, 3 still life. Mr. Hetzell will also put on exhibition a large marine view, by Hamilton, and a painting by Moran. M. Lesser, 2 landscapes, several figure pieces and portraits. W. W. Charles, 5 figure pieces and some portraits. Jaspar Lawman, 2 portraits. Miss Owston, 5 paintings. Miss Ella Beosen 2 portraits and a figure piece. Mrs. Campbell, fruit piece and two cattle heads. Mr. Foerster will display some half a dozen paintings. From the School of Design some of their best efforts will be put on exhibition by a number of young ladies. The hanging of the pictures commenced yesterday afternoon. The committee, however, do not expect to be in good ship shape in that department until Monday or Tuesday. Some discontent is manifested by the artists about the gallery. They desired to have a sky-light in it, and the committee appointed to direct the building of that department zealously endeavored to have the skylight put in, and thought they had succeeded, until, on a visit yesterday, they found that the whole room was roofed in. Some of the artists assert that it will injure their paintings to be exposed to the heat that will be produced by gaslight, and anyway, they want daylight visitors to see their works by daylight, which will be to their advantage. The excuse for not putting in the skylight was that it would have to be of thick, New York plate glass, and that would cost too much, but our artistical friends say that common thick window glass is good enough for the purpose, and is all they ask for.

There is yet a great deal of work to do, but the managers expect to put it through and be ready to open on Thursday. They are working night and day.

THE LYNCH MURDER.

Continuation of the Trial—The Testimony for the Commonwealth All In—The Defense Opened.

The case of Thomas Slavin, charged with the murder of Daniel T. Lynch, was resumed in the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday, Judge White on the bench. A number of witnesses were examined who corroborated in the main, those who had been examined on Monday. Two witnesses named Bennett and Adams, stated that they saw the accused fire the fatal shot.

David J. Davis, sworn—Was present when the shooting occurred; had been introduced to Slavin that night; I heard a fuss and looked around; told Slavin not to interfere, but he pressed into the crowd; I heard the first shot; then there was a second fired; Slavin had disappeared about this time; a man fell, and he was carried out; it was Lynch; some one said Stevens fired the shot; saw no weapon in Slavin's hand.

James Jackson sworn—Knew Thos. Slavin seven or eight months before the shooting happened; knew Pat. Slavin; he is heavier and broader than Tom; saw Tom come out, and heard him say, "I fired the second shot;" could see him quite plainly and knew his voice.

Cross-examined—Work for Jones & Co.; worked for them then; it is about a mile from O'Neill's—am positive that it was Slavin who came to the door; knew him by his light pants and his voice; had talked to him that evening and had heard him speak once before.

William Hamilton, sworn—Know where Maley's tavern is in West Elizabeth; recollect the night of the shooting; was present; went into the tavern between nine and ten o'clock; heard a fuss and found two men in the bar-room fighting; recognized one of the men who was fighting; also recognized another man who had been pointed out to me about half an hour before, and of whom I had heard a good deal; his actions were singular and I watched him; he pushed a broken chair up to the parties who were fighting so that one of them could take hold of it; then the other man who was fighting took hold of the chair and took it out of his hand; then this man whom I was watching, who had kept his hand behind his back took a step forward and drew his revolver and fired; then he took another step or two and raised his revolver and fired again; then Maley jumped on the counter and blew out the lights; I identified the man who blew out the lights as positively the man who had been pointed out to me in the barber shop a short time before.

The witness here was examined closely as to his identity of the prisoner, and stated that Slavin was the man who fired the shot from a revolver.

Samuel Nolder, sworn—Was borough constable of West Elizabeth in 1874; did not know Slavin; went to the brewery on the night of January 3d to make an arrest; did not know the man; he was a perfect stranger to me; I got my hands on the man; he jerked loose and swore he wouldn't go with me, and drew a revolver on me; I didn't arrest him; I didn't want to die there; am not able to identify him.

Cross-examined — David Pearsall, Stephen Beadle, Joseph Bennett, Robert Stewart, John Adams, and others went with me to make the arrest; when the man drew the revolver, another man caught me around the neck and said, "That's all right;" I asked for Patrick Slavin, and some one pointed out the man I tried to arrest; they did not say he was Pat. Slavin, however; they said, "That's the man who shot Lynch."

Re-direct—I started out to arrest both Thomas and Patrick Slavin.

Seth Wilmot sworn—Testified as to his discovery of Slavin in the jail at Wilkesbarre; visited the jail in July with Bennett, Keenan, Wm. Lynch and O'Neill. Bennett was not satisfied that the accused was the party who did the shooting as he looked at him through the grating; when they went inside the prisoner was fully identified.

Cross-examined—I was looking for Patrick Slavin at first according to the verdict of the Coroner's jury; lattery I was employed to arrest Thomas Slavin; the witness was further examined relative to his search and to the notices published.

After calling one or two more witnesses the Commonwealth rested. The defense was opened by Mr. Swartzwelder, when the Court adjourned until this morning.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Republican County Committee.

The County Executive Committee met yesterday afternoon, and the Committee on Meetings and Speakers was requested to prepare for a mass meeting in Allegheny. Mr. John Gilfillin reported that he had been through the townships in the southern portion of the county, and found everything in good shape. A large vote would be polled and Republicans would stick to their ticket. He had been requested to ask that meetings be arranged for Library, Bridgeville, Oakdale, White Hall and Sodom. Mr. A. B. Young also stated that meetings were wanted in Temperanceville and West Liberty. The requests were all referred to the proper committee. A meeting will be held next Monday at Library, and another at Clinton soon.

Meeting of the Colored Voters of the East End

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the colored Republicans of the East End was held last evening in Turner Hall. The assemblage was called to order by Mr. Robert Stevenson, who stated the object to be to complete the organization of the East End and Central clubs. Uniforms and torches sufficient to equip fifty men have been purchased, and arrangements have been made to obtain as many more as might be needed.

A meeting of the colored voters of the Nineteenth ward was held on the 4th inst., at which Mr. Robert Stevenson presided, and P. W. Burleigh acted as Secretary.

The following resolution among others was presented and adopted:

Resolved, That we honor that gallant soldier, General John F. Hartranft, for the ability he has shown as Governor of Pennsylvania; that we pledge to him and Hon. Henry Rawle, our undivided support at the ensuing November election.

The Republicans of Troy Hill will hold a meeting to-night, to organize a Hartranft club. Considerable enthusiasm is felt in the matter, and the indications are that a strong club will be put into the field.

The Third ward marching club, of Allegheny, is to get one hundred more uniforms.

The East End and Central Hartranft (colored) marching clubs are to be reorganized. A meeting was held on Thursday evening with that object in view.

A meeting of the colored voters of the Ninth ward was held on the 4th inst., at which Mr. Robert Stevenson presided, and P. W. Burleigh acted as Secretary.

The following resolution among others was presented and adopted:

The Veteran Third Ward Allegheny Marching Club will hold a meeting this evening, at the Third ward school house. A full attendance of all who wish to join, or have already joined the club, is desired.

A Hartranft Marching Club has been organized at Sharpsburg with P. Kiel, Jr., as Captain; W. H. Claney, First Lieutenant; H. J. Braun, Second Lieutenant. The Captain is to appoint subordinate officers; the elected officers were appointed as a committee to procure uniforms and equipments.

The German Republicans of the Third ward, Allegheny, under the leadership of Alderman Bolster, met last evening and organized a Hartranft Club by electing Alderman Bolster, President and Treasurer, and Charles Lingenfelter, Captain. Uniforms and equipments have been procured, and the club is requested to meet this evening at 7 P. M. sharp, for the purpose of drilling, and on Thursday evening for street parade. The Third ward Germans are in earnest, and will give a good account of themselves in November.

OBITUARY.

An Aged Citizen Passed Away.

William Reno, for many years an honored citizen of Allegheny, died at his residence Monday, in Allegheny. The deceased was the father of James and R. E. Reno, who are so favorably known in this community. Mr. Reno had reached the ripe age of nearly seventy-two years. He was born in Beaver county, in this State, May 6, 1804, where he spent his boyhood. In 1825 he removed to Sewickley, and was joined in wedlock to Lavinia Grimes, who still survives him. Here he resided the most important portion of his life. After his marriage he applied himself assiduously to make up for the lack of an early education. His opportunities in youth were very limited, but in Sewickley he pursued his studies with such diligence that he mastered the sciences and became proficient in most branches. He was an excellent mathematician, well versed in history and astronomy, and a close student of Biblical literature. He taught school with great success for many years. He also learned the trade of shoe-making, which calling he followed for some time. In 1858 he came to Allegheny, where he was engaged with his sons in the coal business. During the administration of Joseph Ritner, he held the office of Justice of the Peace, and held other positions of trust, in all of which he was faithful and efficient. In religion he was a Methodist, and for years has been a consistent and zealous Christian. He was fully identified with the church and Sabbath school, and was an active and useful worker in the vineyard of the Lord. He was an indulgent parent, a faithful husband, an exemplary Christian and an honest and upright citizen. His memory will be held in grateful remembrance by a wide circle of attached friends and admirers.

Here an informal reception will be tendered by the management of the Exposition; reception by the city press and friends at Press headquarters Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock; Friday, excursions under managements of the Chamber of Commerce over the Pennsylvania Railroad, Allegheny Valley Railroad, and Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad; Friday and Saturday evenings visiting places of amusement; Saturday, visiting manufacturing establishments; Monday afternoon, excursion over Castle Shannon Road, visiting coal mines, etc., returning to Mt. Washington in the evening to view the city by gas light. Other arrangements will be made hereafter.

Gas Fixtures.

This is not written as a puff for Messrs. Tate, Munden & Tate, Plumbers and Gas Fitters of No. 313 Liberty street, because their reputation is too well established to need any newspaper bolstering; but simply to notify those who are in need of work or articles in their line, that they have received an extensive assortment of gas fixtures of the latest designs, which will be sold at manufacturers' prices. Everybody knows that when this firm advertises to do a certain thing, that it is not an allurement to entice custom, but a genuine and bona fide reality, and therefore manufacturers' prices mean the very lowest price that the articles could be purchased for from first hands. So in the work of this firm; it is not done in the cheap style, but full value received is given for every dollar of charge, in durable, substantial and careful workmanship. Your patronage of Messrs. Tate, Munden & Tate will be much, very much to your profit.

THE INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.

What is Being Done—Money Well Spent.

The money being spent by exhibitors at the Industrial Exposition, as well as those who are preparing to do some trade for the next few weeks, in having large streamers painted by Mr. John T. Gray, the painter, No. 54 Ninth street, is money well spent. Leave your orders to-day, so as to be in time.

Steamship Arrivals Yesterday.

Dispatches received at Max Schamberg's European Steamship, Exchange and Telegraph Office, at 163 Smithfield street, announce the arrival of the steamer Idaho, at New York; steamer England, at New York; steamer Spain, at Queenstown; steamer City of Montreal, at Queenstown; steamer Batavia, at Queenstown: steamer Bolivia, at Moville.

Attention Merchants!

Malaria-Breeding Floods.

The recent tremendous freshets which have flooded some of the most fertile low lands of the United States, have not only caused wide spread ruin and disaster, but have, as might have been expected, been followed by an unprecedented outcrop of fever and ague, bilious remittents, and other diseases of a malarial tpye. The sun's rays, acting upon the saturated vegetation and isolated pools left by the retiring waters, have exhaled a far-reached miasma, which is pregnant with disease. The most reliable safeguard against it is found to be Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the present demand for which, more particularly in the West and Southwest, where the floods have been most severe, exceeds any which has existed in the past, popular as the great national remedy and preventive of malaria has always been. Never has it been put to such a crucial test, or its claims more conspicuously vindicated.

Three Points for Consideration.

During the past five years the VEGETINE has been steadily working itself into public favor, and those who were at first most incredulous in regard to its merit are now its most ardent friends and supporters.

There are three essential causes for those having such a horror of patent medicines, changing their opinion and lending their influence toward the advancement of VEGETINE. 1st. It is an honestly prepared medicine from barks, roots and herbs. 2d. It honestly accomplishes all that is claimed for it, without leaving any bad effects in the system. 3d. It presents honest vouchers in testimonials from honest, well-known citizens, whose signatures are a sufficient guarantee of their earnestness in the matter. Taking into consideration the vast quantity of medicine brought conspicuously before the public through the flaming advertisements in the newspaper columns, with no proof of merit or genuine vouchers of what it has done, we should be pardoned for manifesting a small degree of pride in presenting the following testimonial from Rev. J. S. DICKERSON, D. D., the popular and ever-genial pastor of the South Baptist Church, Boston:

The Tired Body Sues for Sleep.

BOSTON, March 16, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—It is as much from a sense of duty as of gratitude that I write to say that your VEGETINE—even if it is a patent medicine—has been of great help to me when nothing else seemed to avail which I could safely use. Either excessive mental work or unusual care brings upon me a nervous exhaustion that desperately needs sleep, but as desperately defies it. Night after night the poor, tired body sues for sleep until the day-dawn is welcomed back, and we begin our work tired out with an almost fruitless chase after rest. Now I have found that a little VEGETINE taken just before I retire gives me sweet and immediate sleep, and without any of the evil effects of the usual narcotics. I think two things would tend to make brain workers sleep. 1st, A little less work. 2d. A little more VEGETINE. This prescription has helped me.

Now I have a peculiar horror of "patent medicine," but I have a greater horror of being afraid to tell the straight out truth. The VEGETINE has helped me, and I own it up.

Yours, &c., J. S. DICKERSON.

Valuable Evidence.

The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev. O. T. WALKER, D. D., formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, and at present settled in Providence, R. I., must be esteemed as reliable evidence.

No one should fail to observe that this testimonial is the result of two years' experience with the use of VEGETINE in the Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounce it invaluable:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 164 Transit St.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

I feel bound to express with my signature the high value I place upon your VEGETINE. My family have used it for the last two years; in nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.

O. T. WALKER,
Formerly Pastor of Bowdoin Sq. Church, Boston.

The Best Evidence.

The following letter from Rev. E. S. BEST, pastor M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many physicians. Also those suffering from the same disease as afflicted the son of the Rev. E. S. Best. No person can doubt this testimony, and there is no doubt about the curative powers of VEGETINE:

NATICK, Mass., Jan. 1, 1874.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—We have good reason for regarding your VEGETINE a medicine of the greatest value. We feel assured that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now seventeen years of age; for the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reduced that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the faintest hope of his ever rallying, two of the number declaring that he was beyond the reach of human remedies, that even amputation could not save him, as he had not vigor enough to endure the operation. Just then we commenced giving him VEGETINE, and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed his studies, thrown away crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.

Though there is still some discharge from the opening where the limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured.

He has taken about three dozen bottles of VEGETINE, but lately uses but little, as he declares that he is too well to be taking medicine. Respectfully yours, E. S. BEST. MRS. L. C. F. BEST.

Reliable Evidence.

178 Baltic street, Brooklyn, N. Y., November 14, 1874.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

Dear Sir—From personal benefit received by its use, as well as from personal knowledge of those whose cures thereby have seemed almost miraculous, I can most heartily and sincerely recommend the VEGETINE for the complaints for which it is claimed to cure. JAMES P. LUDLOW, Late Pastor Calvary Bap. Church, Sacramento, Cal.

YESTERDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says:—Mr. Will. Rees, who accompanied the new steamer W. S. Holt to Evansville, returned here last night by rail. He expects to meet his brother, James Rees, jr., here, who is now on his way to Helena, Montana....Conrad Hahn has succeeded in getting 4,000 bushels of coal out of the Montgomery barge, sunk by the Brilliant at Four-mile, and expects to have the barge raised to-day....Captain S. C. Baker, who died in St. Louis, last Sunday, leaves a wife, two married daughters and a son to mourn his loss. His funeral took place at St. Louis on Tuesday.

A DISPATCH from Evansville, of October 4th, says: "The Vint Shinkle arrived at 5:30 P. M., with a good trip of people and a moderate freight. She has a large hole in her starboard bow; nine timbers or ribs are broken from her middle breast-hook aft, and from just under her guard to below her knuckle-steak. The guard is entirely uninjured, the bow of the Hillman having gone entirely under her guard. They built a double bulkhead and she took but little water, and is easily kept clear. The Shinkle's officers are consulting the dock men regarding repairs. She will probably go to Cincinnati or Madison and be hauled out, the docks here being too short to receive her. Taylor Wells was at her wheel, and attaches the entire blame to the pilot of the Hillman. An investigation will be had, which will develop the entire evidence."
